Director of Sky Mountain and Environmental Education
San Joaquin County Office of Education
Stockton, CA

Annie Cunial is a Director in the STEM Department for the San Joaquin County Office of Education. She is currently overseeing the acquisition and development of an overnight outdoor facility in the High Sierras. This residential site located east of Truckee will serve as an outdoor school, camp, and conference center. "Sky Mountain" will primarily serve the youth of San Joaquin County and will expose youth to an ecosystem environmental history which is different from that of the Central Valley. Annie is excited to be working on a project that not only encourages outdoor education, but also inspires students of all ages to gain an understanding of the natural world and their deep connection to it.

Annie received her BA in Social Work from CSU, Chico in 1992 and her MA in Educational Management from the University of LaVerne in 1997. While working in Manteca Unified School District for 18 years, Annie was an elementary, junior high, high school, adult ESL teacher, and site program coordinator. In 2011 she was hired by SJCCE to serve as the Coordinator of Student Events and Activities where she organized county academic competitions for 8 years. Annie is proud to have attended elementary school, high school and junior college in San Joaquin County. Her husband is a teacher at Sierra High School, and they have three children; two girls in college and one son in high school.
